provisions (Article 6(1)(c) of the GDPR), and within the scope of providing optional data — the legal basis for processing is the consent of the data subject (Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR);

- in order to verify qualifications and skills and to establish the terms of cooperation — the legal basis for data processing is the legitimate interest of the data controller (Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR). The legitimate interest of the data controller is the verification of job candidates and determining the conditions of possible cooperation with the data subject;
 - in order to establish or investigate possible claims or defend against such claims by the data controller — the legal basis for data processing is the legitimate interest of the data controller (Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR).
5. Personal data of the data subject may be transferred to employees and associates as well as to persons designated for the recruitment process; entities authorized to do so on the basis of legal provisions, as well as entities acting on behalf of the data controller, including but not limited to IT systems providers; entities providing services in connection with conducting recruitment processes, as well as providers of advisory and legal services.
 6. Personal data of the data subject will be processed until the ongoing recruitment process is completed and the candidate is selected by the data controller while, within the scope of personal data processed pursuant to the consent of the data subject, such data will be processed until withdrawing the consent, but not longer than until the ongoing recruitment process is completed and the candidate or candidates are selected by the data controller. The processing period may be each time extended by the claims' period of prescription if data processing is necessary to establish or investigate any claims or defend against such claims by the data controller. After expiration of such a period, the data will be processed only to the extent and for the time prescribed by the provisions of law.
 7. Data subject is entitled to:
 - request access to personal data;
 - demand rectification of personal data;
 - require the erasure of personal data;
 - request that processing of personal data be restricted;
 - request that an objection be raised to the processing of data;
