

JD(S) in Kerala to form new party

Move comes after party's national leader H D Kumaraswamy joined Narendra Modi cabinet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @TPuram

EAGER to wriggle out of the tough situation it has found itself in after the party national leadership joined hands with the BJP, the Janata Dal (S) in Kerala has decided to form a new party. The party leadership meet held at the state committee office in Thiruvananthapuram on Tuesday decided to form a party sporting a new name, flag and symbol.

JD(S), which is part of the Left front in the state, was in a spot after national leader H D Kumaraswamy joined the Narendra Modi cabinet. The party unit in Kerala had immediately announced its decision to continue with the LDF. However, both the UDF and the BJP have been attacking the Left over JD(S) being part of the Left cabinet in Kerala and Modi cabinet at the Centre. The UDF has been demanding that the CM seek the resignation of party minister K Krishnankutty from the Left cabinet.

Announcing the decision to form a new party, JD(S) state chief Mathew T Thomas said the new party would adhere to socialist principles and tread the path of Jaya Prakash Narayanan and Ram Manohar Lohia. It would be part of the Left front, while simultaneously remaining as an independent political entity.

The leadership has formed a panel to finalise the name and other related formalities.

"The new name will be registered soon. A final decision will be taken after looking into the legal aspects too in this regard. If the national leadership decides to cut ties with the BJP, the Kerala unit will go back to the party," Mathew Thomas said.

The JD(S) has decided not to merge with any party, including RJD, for the time being. A decision on merger with the Samajwadi Party will be taken later, said sources.

"It has been decided not to merge with RJD. However, the option of merger with SP will be decided later. Since it will be a new party, there's no reason for the MLAs to resign," said a senior leader.

"The party in Kerala has already severed ties with the national leadership and hence, there's no need to inform the national leadership," the leader said.

Though the Kerala JD(S) had announced that it had severed ties with the national leadership, technically it remained as the Kerala unit of the JD(S) led by Deve Gowda. A few senior leaders like C K Nanu and Neelalohithadas were unhappy with the Kerala unit's dilly-dallying. Moving away from the official faction could lead to disqualification of the two JD(S) MLAs - Mathew Thomas and K Krishnankutty - in the state. It's in this backdrop that Mathew Thomas announced the decision to form a new party.

Help us raise fund to save my daughter, requests Nimisha Priya's mother

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Palakkad

THE MOTHER of Nimisha Priya who is convicted of the 2017 murder of a Yemeni national Tala Abdo Mahdi, has requested the public to help them raise the blood money to save Nimisha from death row.

Addressing mediapersons of Palakkad from Yemen via video conference on Tuesday, Nimisha's mother Prema Kumari said the media via video conference from Yemen on Tuesday

Prema Kumari with Samuel Jerome Bhaskaran, member of Save Nimisha Priya International Council, speaking to the media via video conference from Yemen on Tuesday

Members estimate the sum to be around ₹3 crore. "However, as per the rules in Yemen, where India doesn't have diplomatic presence, we cannot negotiate directly with Mahdi's family, but only through the heads of their tribal communities. We need to immediately raise ₹25 lakh to start interaction with the tribe heads and another ₹25 lakh to apply for the pardon through them. What we are trying immediately is to raise ₹50 lakh to start the pre-negotiation talks for which we request the help of kind-hearted persons," A K Moosa Master, one of the key members of the action council, told TNIE.

Priya, who worked as a nurse in Yemen and later started a clinic partnering with Mahdi, was awarded the maximum punishment after she injected him with sedatives in order to get back her passport from his possession. Mahdi died of overdose.

Stop playing hide and seek, CM tells Centre over NEET row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @TPuram

CHIEF MINISTER Pinarayi Vijayan demanded that the Union government stop playing hide-and-seek in the NEET controversy and conduct a comprehensive investigation to resolve the concerns of students and parents. He said the allegations raised about the NEET UG results are affecting the credibility of the entrance exam system.

The CM's comment came at a time when all major opposition parties have expressed concern over the conduct of the examination.

"It is surprising that the Centre is not prepared to intervene effectively despite realising that sabotage in the conduct of the test is a very serious matter. Neither the Centre nor the National Testing Agency, could provide a satisfactory explanation. The authorities continue to gamble with the future of students," he said. He stopped short of saying the task of conducting medical entrance exams should be given back to the states.

Tamil Nadu CM M K Stalin and Karnataka Deputy CM D K Shivakumar had demanded that states be allowed to conduct their own medical entrance exams.

G Sudhakaran flayed for criticising CPM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Alappuzha

AFTER senior leader and former minister G Sudhakaran lambasted CPM leaders in the district, MLA H Salam gave a sharp reply to him on Tuesday. Sudhakaran's comments on the party's failure in the Lok Sabha election and the style of Sudhakaran was also kept out of the state committee," Salam said.

He also said that people know why senior leader K R Gouri resigned from the party. "When we try to examine the exact reasons for the resignation of Gouri, more things have to be divulged. The resignation of Gouri was a major setback to the party in the district. However, the party overcame all such difficulties," Salam said.

After the 2021 assembly election, Sudhakaran had come out against district leaders over various issues which became controversial.

Sudhakaran had said political criminals were working against him. Replying to him, Salam said: "Political criminalism also includes giving weapons to opponents while sticking to a particular ideology. Sudhakaran is supporting opponents while sticking to an ideology. It is also political criminalism," he told reporters in Alappuzha.

"Sudhakaran is a senior leader and the CPM has given him all respect and positions in the party and government. He contested seven times to the assembly and became the cen-

EVEN after the election results were declared, several incidents of bomb attacks were reported from the district.

DCC president Martin George said even as the CPM and the BJP continue to make bombs in Kannur, the police department remains inefficient. "Earlier, the police used to conduct raids regularly to check such illegal activities. However, with Pinarayi Vijayan taking charge of the police department, the bomb-making factories of CPM and RSS have got the licence to operate 24 hours a day. The police do not even show any interest to conduct raids," Martin said in a press release

Karnataka HC grants anticipatory bail to Prajwal's mother Bhavani

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday granted anticipatory bail to Bhavani Revanna, an accused in the kidnap of a victim of sexual assault allegedly involving her son, former MP Prajwal Revanna.

Justice Krishna S Dixit pronounced the order while allowing her petition for 12 reasons, and continued the conditions imposed while granting interim anticipatory bail on June 7.

Noting that it is difficult to agree with the contention of the Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) that the accused has not cooperated in the investigation, despite the grant of interim anticipatory bail which stipulates the condition of cooperation, the court said she appeared before the Special Investigation Team (SIT) and answered 80 questions.

Police cannot insist that an accused should give answers in the way the police desire, the court added.

The SPP contended that the accused had not prevented her son from sexually abusing several women and fleeing the country, therefore, she should not be granted bail; the court said this argument is too farfetched. "The son has been taken into custody by the police and what duty a mother owes in law to prevent her major children from committing offences? Also, she is not an abettor in the cases registered against her son," the court said.

The SPP's contention that the petitioner hails from a political background cannot be disputed, but is not a sole consideration for denying bail, especially when the petitioner is a married woman. Displacement of women even for a short period disturbs the dependents, and hence women by their very nature deserve preferential treatment in matters of bail, the court observed.

The son has been taken into custody by the police and what duty a mother owes in law to prevent her major children from committing offences? Also, she is not an abettor in the cases registered against her son, and sexual abuses that happened on the property belonging to the petitioner can only be a poor factor to decide anticipatory bail - Karnataka HC
