

BRINGING TOMORROW'S SOLUTIONS TO TODAY'S RETAILERS

Prepare for the next wave of disruption by transforming your business into a cloud-connected enterprise

The retail industry has witnessed a whirlwind of change over the last few years—and the changes keep on coming. Retailers who are thriving in this environment are those who have recognized the importance of technology modernizations that enable them to pivot to digital offerings and adapt to quickly evolving customer needs. Today's cloud-connected retailers are not only more agile, but they can also tap into data-driven, real-time decision-making to deliver a seamless customer experience.

By combining cloud solutions from Oracle with retail solutions, industry expertise from Infosys, and Infosys Cobalt, you can accelerate your digital transformation to support next-gen retailing capabilities—and ensure that your business is prepared for whatever comes next.

reduce lost sales by

30% to 40%¹

Simplify supply planning, reduce time to market, and modernize the customer and employee experience

The retail solutions from Infosys and Oracle enhance the customer experience and streamline operations across the enterprise and supply chain. Our cross-channel platforms enable brick-and-mortar retail stores and hybrid retailers to improve operational efficiency, accelerate outcomes, engage shoppers, and influence purchasing decisions.

Simplify your supply planning: Easily adapt to last-minute changes with the Infosys-Oracle solution for supply chain planning, which enables flexibility by aligning supply with demand. The cloud-compatible solution comes with prebuilt, easy-to-customize templates to drive faster time to market. The solution's software-as-a-service (SaaS) and platform-as-a-service (PaaS) options can reduce your total cost of ownership by up to 20%.¹

Integrate product design and procurement: Bring your new products to market faster with Oracle's template-based item and purchase order induction combined with Infosys' integrated sourcing across buyers and suppliers. This collaborative tool for product introductions and procurement simplifies offline buying and improves productivity for your business users.

Modernize the customer and employee experience: Meet your customers' demands for a contactless mobile checkout experience with Oracle's Retail Xstore Point-of-Service (POS) solution combined with Infosys Extended Store, a lightweight, noninvasive POS add-on. Together, we enable you to enhance the customer experience with self-service and faster checkout while also enabling product traceability to support inventory management.

Are you ready to modernize the retail experience?

Infosys and Oracle have a long history of delivering innovative value to our mutual clients through customized, easy-to-implement solutions. Combined with our collective knowledge and understanding of the retail industry, we are well positioned to assist all types of retail organizations as they modernize, adapt to the changing retail environment, and meet evolving customer expectations.
