

Enable global learning access with LinkedIn Learning in China

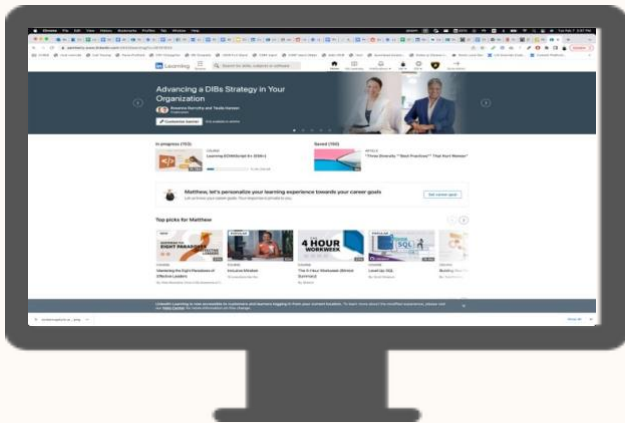

We know having global learning access is a top priority for our global customers. To support this, we have created an experience where learners access LinkedIn Learning in China will have access to all the same learning content, but with limited social features.

When will LinkedIn Learning in China Launch?

We're excited to announce that LinkedIn Learning will relaunch in China starting May 1st, 2023.

The Learner Experience

When accessing LinkedIn Learning in China, learners will have access to all the same learning content. This includes 1st party content (content from LinkedIn Learning's library), 3rd Party content (content from additional learning platform libraries), and custom content (content from your organization).

But, learners will not have access to the social features below:

- Making Ratings and Reviews
- Q&A
- Learning Groups
- Share to Social Media Sites
- Watch Party
- Certificate Add to Profile
- Certificate Shares (just download available)

The Admin Experience

The admin experience will not change, and all reporting capabilities will be available. Regarding social features, they will be switched on by default, but admins can switch off these features for their learners if they desire. If an admin chooses to keep their social features on, then all their learners (except those based in China) will be able to see them.
