Introduction to artificial intelligence and machine learning

Learn best practices, principles, and tools for this in-demand skill.

Implementing this Learner Challenge

Help your employees accelerate their careers with technical Learner Challenges. LinkedIn Learning content provides ways for your team to gain the most in-demand tech skills.

With the resources in this toolkit, you can get started in a few simple steps:

Familiarize yourself with the learning calendar on page 3.

Follow our recommended comms plan for your challenge on page 4.

Learn how to get your whole organization involved on page 8.

Learner calendar

The calendar in your download pack maps out a detailed learning journey for your team. It includes bite-sized courses that take 5–10 minutes to complete, helping your team make time for learning.

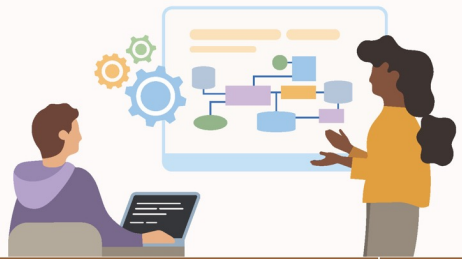

Include this in your kickoff email to your learners on the first day of your challenge so they can track their journey as they go.

Recommended comms plan for your challenge

Following this straightforward comms plan will help you keep your team informed at every step of your Learner Challenge.

With suggested messaging, and some practical tips and advice for creating engagement, this is all you need to launch a successful challenge.

You'll also find themed images and banners in your download pack to help promote your emails.

01

Choose a start date and send a launch email to your team.

Use the email template on page 6 of this toolkit to help you get started.

02

Send a reminder.

Do this a few days into the challenge to catch anyone who missed the first email.

For example: Have you joined our learning challenge, “Introduction to artificial intelligence and machine learning”? There’s still plenty of time to get started.

Recommended comms plan for your challenge

Promote your campaign on the learner homepage.

03

Prep for the final stretch.

Send a second reminder close to the end of the challenge so you can help spur your learners on.

For example: There's still time to get involved with our latest learning challenge, "Introduction to artificial intelligence and machine learning." Check out the calendar I emailed on <date> and discover best practices and practical applications for machine learning.

04

Celebrate.

Send a positive wrap-up message to celebrate your team's effort.

For example: Thank you for taking part in this month's learning challenge, "Introduction to artificial intelligence and machine learning." We hope you wrapped up this month with more knowledge of machine learning and practical ways to start using it in your current role.

Subject line: Discover best practices for machine learning

Hi team,

Many companies around the world are using machine learning (ML), a subset of artificial intelligence, to solve some of the most complex business problems. To stay competitive, it's becoming increasingly important for teams to have basic knowledge of ML. To help you get a better understanding of this in-demand skill, I'd like to share a Learner Challenge running from <start date> to <end date>.

I've attached a calendar of selected LinkedIn Learning videos that'll take about 5–7 minutes a day to complete. I'll also send a reminder later in the month. If you have any questions in the meantime, feel free to reach out.

Happy learning!

Tips and tricks to get more people involved in your L&D goals

LinkedIn data has shown that most team leads and executives are eager to support learning programs.

Here are a few ways to leverage executive influence to inspire employees to learn.

01

Have executives record a video or provide a one-sentence quote.

Be motivational and inspirational to get your team excited about learning, rather than feeling pressured to participate.

02

Include reminders in organizational communications.

Gentle reminders go a long way. Especially if you acknowledge your appreciation that your team is using their free time for learning.

03

Cultivate friendly competition.

Make things competitive with goals and rewards for your top learners in order to motivate more people to get involved.

04

Encourage your learners and team leads to share their favorite courses.

With so many courses available, it can be hard to know where to begin. Asking participants to share and discuss their favorite lessons is a great way to encourage conversation around the challenge and increase uptake.

Thank you.

We hope you found this toolkit useful.
