

Beyond finances

PwC's alliance with Workday draws on our extensive experience and innovation to deliver industry-specific solutions that can help your organization's unique challenges.

Proven use cases, configurations, and standardized designs that can be tailored to your organization. So, when we implement, it's about more than transforming finance. It's about finance transforming your entire business.

One data model. A world of possibilities.

- Gain better outcomes with more timely and efficient financial information and auditable process management
- Have confidence in your compliance with evolving standards and regulations
- Advance your objectives with improved business performance transparency and real-time visibility
- Make smarter, informed decisions, with granular reporting from Workday Analytics through Accounting Center and Prism
- Shift from record keeping to insights with real-time, self-service, automated reporting to help increase time spent on analysis.

Rapidly model costs. Make informed financial decisions.

Strategic Cost Intelligence, a PwC product, is a multi-dimensional cost and profitability modeling solution that can produce valuable insights – helping you to make faster, more confident decisions.

Drive more profitable behaviors through deeper engagement with analytics.

Monitor and course-correct with valuable cost insights beyond basic expense reporting.

Prove profitability with analytics that allow decision making with speed and confidence.

PwC is a 2023 Gartner® Magic Quadrant™ Leader for Cloud ERP Services for Service-Centric Enterprises

The PwC and Workday difference

Some businesses merely implement. But our community of solvers can turn a business-led lens on your challenges.

A global network of industry-leading professionals.

PwC helps solve specific challenges from deep tech, security, risk and compliance to industry-leading finance, accounting and tax.

Right from the get-go, we can be there.

From end-to-end we can help evaluate vendors, drive adoption and give you the tools to help manage your solution independently.

Experience with other leading tech. (including middleware and collaborators like Workiva and Kyriba)

With the ability to design a solution that thinks beyond the system, we can align with and complement your upstream and downstream needs.

An alliance that can deliver.

Blending industry-leading tech with innovative specialists can help deliver far-reaching benefits to your organization.

With the PwC and Workday alliance, you can expect:

Greater control with a thorough single data model and workflow that helps make data easier to track and manage.

In-memory, real-time data processing can help put relevant analytics and metrics at your fingertips.

More agility with lower tech deployment costs, reduced time to deploy, and simplified tech licensing support.

A reduced IT footprint means you can nimbly respond to changes... and roll with the punches.

Increased confidence in your financial reporting, policies and compliance. You can focus less on jumping through hoops – and more on meaningful innovation.

Speed to value with faster implementation and easier-to-realize benefits, driven by our proven accelerators, including industry model tenants, an integration library and inventory, project management tools (Concourse and Jira), reporting inventory, data conversion tools and benchmark processes.

End-to-End support from assessing which solution is better fitted for you, to helping develop implementation and adoption strategies, executing so you can sustain and evolve your solution after launch. We're there for you from start to finish, and beyond.

It adds up to a more agile, motivated and productive organization in better shape to help advance your business goals.

Drive innovation, accelerate outcomes.

Our outcome driven approach delivers Workday solutions that can help tackle your most complex problems. Imagine...

- Complete, reconciled, efficient data at your fingertips
- The ability to help better understand all your budget components on a departmental basis – all on one system
- Real-time visibility of revenue streams, without on-premises IT
- A cohesive, unified data model and solution that's integrated for various areas of your business including finance, accounting, and tax
- Scalable technology that can help make it easier to manage and maintain during times of growth and change
- Business-enabled transformation that can help unlock value through increased productivity, automation, and self-service
- Improved security and controls with a sustainable security model that can help balance flexibility and compliance.

It's time to uplevel your technology... and uplift your organization with PwC and Workday.

Laurie Priest
Partner, Workday Financials
Transformation Leader, Consulting
Solutions, PwC US
+1 214-906-8913
laurie.priest@pwc.com

Mike Roberts
Partner, Workday Financials
Transformation Leader, Consulting
Solutions, PwC US
+1 303-828-6370
m.roberts@pwc.com