Doctor Who

The Doctor is a Time Lord who travels through time and space solving problems and battling injustice across the universe. His old and occasionally unreliable time machine, the TARDIS, looks like a small British police box on the outside, but is much, much larger on the inside. As a Time Lord, the Doctor cannot die; instead he “regenerates” into a new body and takes on a new personality each time.

The cult BBC science fiction series, Doctor Who, first made its appearance in 1963 and is still immensely popular more than 50 years later, after 800 episodes and 12 different Doctors.

The Eleventh Doctor

Fascinated by both the largest and tiniest of things, the Eleventh Doctor has a powerful sense of what is right and wrong. His dress sense might be a bit odd, but he knows that bow ties are cool!

The Eleventh Doctor had grown old on Trenzalore and as the Dalek armies gathered to see him finally defeated, Clara persuaded the Time Lords to grant him a new regeneration cycle.

After destroying his old enemies he reached the TARDIS, phoned the future and completed his regeneration. The era of the fierce, fiery Twelfth Doctor was beginning...

The Twelfth Doctor

Sharp, impatient and with a lightning-fast thought process, the Twelfth Doctor may not be big on hugs, but he is drawn to danger and is incredibly brave.

The Daleks

Created by the evil scientist Davros, the Daleks were born without any compassion or pity and have a strong belief that they are the superior creatures in the Universe.

Clara Oswald

Clara is the Doctor's extraordinary companion. Kind, cheeky and optimistic, she travels with the Doctor and is always in the middle of his most exciting adventures.

Weeping Angel

The Weeping Angels have the ability to send other beings into the past. They then feed on the potential time energy of what would have been the rest of their victim's lives.

The TARDIS

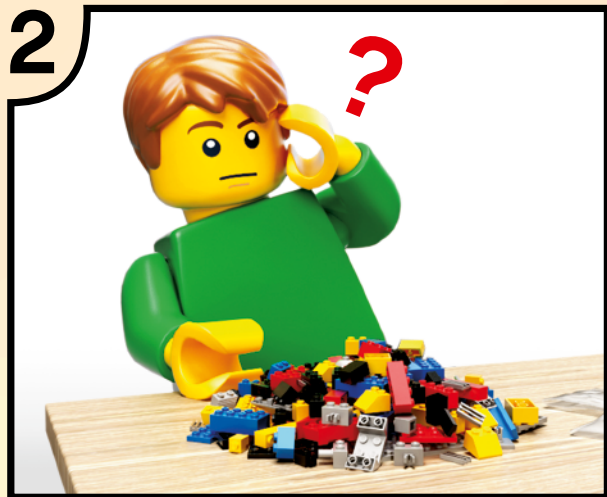

When the Doctor first touched the TARDIS console he said the ship was the most beautiful thing he'd ever known. Then he took off, crashing through the cosmos, saving people and planets, and being taken where he needed to go by his magnificent time machine.

The exterior of the TARDIS should change to match its environment, but its "Chameleon Circuit" developed a fault.

This product started out with a great project idea submitted by Andrew Clark and was transformed into a true LEGO® model by LEGO Product Designer Samuel Johnson and LEGO Graphic Designer Adam Corbally.

Andrew Clark

“I work as a Senior Artist on digital games, and I wanted to try something else that was creative. I looked to my childhood, and the fun I had with LEGO bricks. I looked at all the amazing things people were now doing with LEGO models and felt inspired!

I joined LEGO forums, and heard about LEGO Cuusoo, now LEGO Ideas. To be able to submit my own designs that could become an official LEGO set was compelling! I immediately set out to create my own designs, I had to try!

When LEGO Ideas announced they would accept projects based on Doctor Who I was excited. I immediately started a design, and through constant iteration, it was refined. Getting the best LEGO representation of the TARDIS was crucial, as was emulating its “bigger on the inside” feature.

Working with LEGO Product Designer Sam Johnson was a great experience; he managed to better incorporate the opened TARDIS into the interior, and console. He made other improvements, and I felt lucky to have him working on it.

Now my mind is thinking of future LEGO Ideas projects!”

“Growing up, my uncle (Paul McGann) was cast as the Eighth Doctor which was an extremely exciting time. And as soon as I saw this project, I wanted to be the designer soooo bad!

It was fun to work on the prototype from Andrew, making it more stable and even possible to pick up the entire set, so it can be moved around. I even built in the feature that allows the Doctor to be placed inside the TARDIS.”

Samuel Johnson

Product Designer, The LEGO Group

“I’m a big fan of the rebooted Doctor Who series, so I was thrilled to have the chance to work on the graphics for the model. We managed to include some really awesome details, like the Eleventh Doctor’s cool bow tie, but my favorite would be the alternative face for the terrifying, Weeping Angel! I hope all you Whovians like it... Geronimo!”
