

A diagram illustrating a beam of light or energy. On the left, a red rectangular box labeled "sender area" is connected by a blue arrow to a green rectangular box labeled "receiver area" on the right. A large, light blue, horizontally-oriented oval with a grid pattern encompasses the entire path from the sender area to the receiver area. The word "beam" is written in blue text within this oval, positioned between the sender and receiver areas.

sender
area

beam

receiver
area