Message Reflection

Romans 12:1-2 uses the very clear imagery of offering a sacrifice to describe how the Christian life is intended to be wholly offered to God as an act of worship. This idea, that everything we do is something that presents us with an opportunity to worship God is something that brings great meaning to our lives. And, as we see in the first century church, it is also something that transforms the world around us for the Glory of God. Take some time today to examine your life and to consider what it would look like for you to offer your body as a living sacrifice!
