TOSHIBA

SQBM+™

Computational Solution for Drug Discovery

Using SQBM+ technology, Revorf created and validated a purely computational-based new solution for 3D protein allosteric regulation prediction in the drug discovery process.

Revorf

End-to-end computational solution for 3D protein structural prediction.

Validated with existing protein database gained from in vitro experiments.